ANNEX I – STATEMENT OF WORK AND TERMS OF REFERENCE

Consultancy for the development of Child Center Climate Vulnerability Assessment (CCCVA) for Moldova

Duration: December 2016 - March 2017

Location: Republic of Moldova

1. Background¹

Climate change is happening now. It is not a challenge for the distant future and its impact is already felt by the most vulnerable around the world. More than 400,000 deaths are attributable to climate change each year, mostly among the poor and vulnerable. As impacts intensify, this number will rise – with those living in poverty the most affected. Climate change and poverty are inextricably interlinked. Unaddressed, climate change threatens to undermine progress in poverty reduction and risks committing a third of the world's population to a life in extreme poverty by 2050.

Extreme weather events and climate-related hazards are increasing in frequency and intensity – from floods and cyclones to droughts and heatwaves – resulting not only in rising economic loss and impact, but also lasting development setbacks. Climate-related extreme events are often the catalyst for the spread of diseases as well as widespread malnutrition.

Children are among the most vulnerable to the impacts of climate change. Addressing climate change impacts safeguards fundamental child rights. All aspects of a child's daily life, covered by the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC), are affected by climate induced risk including children's right to survival, clean water, sanitation, food, health, education and protection. In developing countries, climate change is projected to exacerbate the top five causes of death² for children under five.

At its core, climate change is an issue of equity, both within the current generation and across generations. Children are the least responsible for climate change, but will be left to bear the brunt of its impacts. A future with an increasing impact of climate change effects poses challenges to sustainable development and human rights. Climate related disasters undo development progress and divert scarce resources away from child welfare. Climate risks exacerbate existing vulnerabilities and the inequalities of girls, boys, women and men, and affects disadvantaged regions and population groups the most. They contribute to a vicious cycle of poverty, which prevents children from achieving their rights and families and communities from realizing their development potential. In contrast, climate adaptation helps us direct activities to where they are most needed, increases the resilience of communities, and helps vulnerable people become better off, healthier and more food-secure by protecting and enhancing their livelihoods. Climate adaptation frees up resources by reducing the needs of and dependence on relief and recovery. Therefore development-as-usual is no longer acceptable if we are to achieve the SDGs.

Agriculture is one of the most climate-sensitive of all economic sectors, and without a clear plan for aligning agricultural policies with climate change, the livelihoods of rural populations are at risk³. The 2013 World Bank study notes that in many countries, such as in Moldova, the risks of climate change are an immediate and fundamental problem because the majority of the rural population depends either directly or indirectly on agriculture for their livelihoods. Indeed, agriculture remains one of the main economic sectors, with a share in GDP of 12%⁴ and engaging about 30% of the active population of the country⁵. It is a low productivity sector, which is also highly dependent on natural factors. The sector still recovers from a severe draught in 2015. According to WB report, over the next years climate change will grow more severe in Moldova. Temperature increases are projected to be higher, and precipitation declines greater, during the crucial summer growing period. These conditions have been confirmed by farmers as already affecting their actions and production results. Farmers in Moldova are not suitably adapted to current climate. This effect is sometimes called the 'adaptation deficit', which in Moldova is large.

Taking a child-centred approach to climate change adaptation means:

- focusing on the specific risks faced by children in a changing climate;
- ensuring children's needs and capacities are central to adaptation planning and implementation; and
- Increasing the voice and agency of children in adaptation decision-making processes.

Children, however, do not form one homogenous group. Their needs and capacities differ across age, gender, geography and socio-economic status. Child-centred climate adaptation ensures that all children are able to meaningfully participate in the adaptation process and no one is left behind. A quantitative and spatial risk assessment helps to better understand and operationalize climate change adaptation, and is therefore an essential tool for risk-informed planning and ultimately risk-informed development programming.

2. Purpose of the consultancy

The purpose of the consultancy is to conduct a Child Centred Climate Vulnerability Assessment (CCCVA) in Moldova. The CCCVA will support UNICEF Moldova new Country Program 2018-2022 development process, by contributing to a risk-informed analysis of the situation of children in the country. The study will assess climate vulnerability with specific focus on how such vulnerability contributes to child poverty and further deterioration of key child deprivation. The analysis will provide a spatial overview of vulnerabilities, highlighting geographies with particular multi-faceted deprivation that potentially will be exacerbated by impacts of climate change.

The Child-Centered Climate Vulnerability Assessment (CCCVA) has the potential to demonstrate the merit of putting children at the center of a national risk assessment and the utility of using indicators related to children's development and welfare as the key measures of vulnerability in the larger population.

The CCCVA will also inform internal decision-making in UNICEF, enabling more risk and climate-sensitive programming, especially in the context of the development of the new UNICEF's five year country program (2018-2022)

The CCCVA will focus on potential impacts of climate change on children with focus on poverty. World Bank report findings⁶ predicts a continuous increase in temperatures, up to an increase of as much as 7°C in southern Moldova by the middle of the century, a surge in drought periods and changing and erratic rainfall patterns. The direct temperature and precipitation effect of future climate change on crops in Moldova will be a reduction of most yields. The report also projects reduction in water supply and demand in Moldova under a changed climate, and forecasts substantial water shortages for the Raut and Nistru River basins in the future, meaning that there will be insufficient water available to irrigate crops. As a result, the total effects of climate change could lead to losses for farmers of from 10 to 30 percent for crops like maize, wheat, alfalfa and vegetables under the medium impact scenario. Fruit crops like grapes and apples will not be as severely affected, but they are still projected to suffer losses of from 0 to 10 percent if nothing is done to adapt. With high reliance on agriculture, the Moldova economy is expected to suffer the most from losses and damages associated with climate extremes and has the potential of triggering heightened level of internal migration—both seasonal and permanent.

3. Objectives of the consultancy

Both Institutions and Individual consultants can submit offers for this RFP

The objective of the consultancy is to conduct a Child Centered Climate Vulnerability Assessment by using quantitative, qualitative and spatial methodology, collating existing information and resources, and identifying potential areas for child-centered advocacy, programming and intervention.

The focus of the assessment should be (technical content):

- Impact of climate change (current and projected)
- Forecast of potential changes and resulting impacts
- Environmental Vulnerabilities
- Vulnerability Mapping of population and children (focus on multi-dimensional child deprivations)
- Existing Coping Capacity
- Exposure to Risks
- Potential areas of advocacy, programming and intervention on child-centered resilience, climate change adaptation, and multi-sectoral interventions.

For the purpose of the study the disaster risk reduction (DRR) formula for calculating risk will be used (focus on climate change impacts). The risk is understood as a function of hazards, vulnerability, exposure and capacity. Therefore the basic risk formula will be used:

$$\text{Risk} = \frac{\text{Projected climate impact} \times \text{Vulnerability} \times \text{Exposure}}{\text{Capacity}}$$

For UNICEF, it is important to consider child risk by focusing on the presence, vulnerability and capacity of children in hazard-prone areas. The assessment should be guided by existing best practice (e.g. OCHA's Global Focus Model) and should develop a qualitative and spatial risk assessment methodology that should give a relative measure of the climate change vulnerability of children in the 35 districts in the country. Review of climate vulnerability and child deprivation analysis will be required to provide a comprehensive overview on child vulnerability.

The assessment should provide suggestions and opportunities for incorporation of the CCCVA and risk-informed programming into UNICEF's five year country plan.

15. FORCE MAJEURE; OTHER CHANGES IN CONDITIONS

- (a) In the event of and as soon as possible after the occurrence of any cause constituting force majeure, the Contractor shall give notice and full particulars in writing to UNICEF of such occurrence or change if the Contractor is thereby rendered unable, wholly or in part, to perform its obligations and meet its responsibilities under this Contract. The Contractor shall also notify UNICEF of any other changes in conditions or the occurrence of any event which interferes or threatens to interfere with its performance of the Contract. On receipt of the notice required under this Article, UNICEF shall take such action as, in its sole discretion, it considers to be appropriate or necessary in the circumstances, including the granting to the Contractor of a reasonable extension of time in which to perform its obligations under the Contract.
- (b) If the Contractor is rendered permanently unable, wholly, or in part, by reason of force majeure to perform its obligations and meet its responsibilities under this Contract, UNICEF shall have the right to suspend or terminate this Contract on the same terms and conditions as are provided for in Article 14, "Termination", except that the period of notice shall be seven (7) days instead of thirty (30) days.
- (c) Force majeure as used in this Article means acts of God, war (whether declared or not), invasion, revolution, insurrection or other acts of a similar nature or force.

In the event of any termination no payment shall be due from UNICEF to the Contractor except for work and services satisfactorily performed in conformity with the express terms of this contract.

Upon the giving of such notice, the Contractor shall have no claim for any further payment, but shall remain liable to UNICEF for reasonable loss or damage which may be suffered by UNICEF for reason of the default. The Contractor shall not be liable for any loss or damage if the failure to perform the contract arises out of force majeure.

Upon termination of the contract, UNICEF may require the contractor to deliver any finished work which has not been delivered and accepted, prior to such termination and any materials or work-in-process related specifically to this contract. Subject to the deduction of any claim UNICEF may have arising out of this contract or termination, UNICEF will pay the value of all such finished work delivered and accepted by UNICEF.

The initiation of arbitral proceedings in accordance with Article 22 "Settlement of Disputes" below shall not be deemed a termination of this Contract.

17. SUB-CONTRACTING

In the event the Contractor requires the services of subcontractors, the Contractor shall obtain the prior written approval and clearance of UNICEF for all sub-contractors. The approval of UNICEF of a sub-contractor shall not relieve the Contractor of any of its obligations under this Contract. The terms of any sub-contract shall be subject to and in conformity with the provisions of this Contract.

18. ASSIGNMENT AND INSOLVENCY

1. The Contractor shall not, except after obtaining the written consent of UNICEF, assign, transfer, pledge or make other dispositions of the Contract, or any part thereof, of the Contractor's rights or obligations under the Contract.
2. Should the Contractor become insolvent or should control of the Contractor change by virtue of insolvency, UNICEF may, without prejudice to any other rights or remedies, terminate the Contract by giving the Contractor written notice of termination.

19. USE OF UNITED NATIONS AND UNICEF NAME AND EMBLEM

The Contractor shall not use the name, emblem or official seal of the United Nations or UNICEF or any abbreviation of these names for any purpose.

20. OFFICIALS NOT TO BENEFIT

The Contractor shall not advertise or otherwise make public that the Vendor is furnishing goods or services to UNICEF without specific permission of UNICEF.

22. SETTLEMENT OF DISPUTES

Amicable Settlement

The Parties shall use their best efforts to settle amicably any dispute, controversy or claim arising out of, or relating to this Contract or the breach, termination or invalidity thereof. Where the parties wish to seek such an amicable settlement through conciliation, the conciliation shall take place in accordance with the UNCITRAL Conciliation Rules then obtaining, or according to such other procedure as may be agreed between the parties.

Arbitration

Any dispute, controversy or claim between the Parties arising out of this Contract or the breach, termination or invalidity thereof, unless settled amicably under the preceding paragraph of this Article within sixty (60) days after receipt by one Party or the other Party's request for such amicable settlement, shall be referred by either Party to arbitration in accordance with the UNCITRAL Arbitration Rules then obtaining. The arbitral tribunal shall have no authority to award punitive damages. In addition, the arbitral tribunal shall have no authority to award interest in excess of six percent (6%) and any such interest shall be simple interest only. The Parties shall be bound by any arbitration award rendered as a result of such arbitration as the final adjudication of any such controversy, claim or dispute.

23. PRIVILEGES AND IMMUNITIES

The privileges and immunities of the UN, including its subsidiary organs, are not waived.

24. CHILD LABOUR

UNICEF fully subscribes to the Convention on the Rights of the Child and draws the attention of potential suppliers to Article 32 of the Convention which inter alia requires that a child shall be protected from performing any work that is likely to be hazardous or to interfere with the child's education, or to be harmful to the child's health or physical, mental, spiritual, moral or social development.

25. ANTI-PERSONNEL MINES

UNICEF supports an international ban on the manufacture of anti-personnel mines. Anti-personnel mines have killed and maimed thousands of people, of whom a large proportion are children and women. Anti-personnel mines present a serious obstacle to the return of populations displaced from their residences by fighting around their villages and homes. UNICEF has, therefore, decided not to purchase products from companies that sell or manufacture anti-personnel mines or their components.

26. AUTHORITY TO MODIFY

No modification or change in this Contract, no waiver of any of its provisions or any additional contractual relationship of any kind with the Contractor shall be valid and enforceable against UNICEF unless provided by an amendment to this Contract signed by the authorized official of UNICEF.

27. REPLACEMENT OF PERSONNEL

UNICEF reserves the right to request the Contractor to replace the assigned personnel if they are not performing to a level that UNICEF considers satisfactory. After written notification, the Contractor will provide curriculum vitae of appropriate candidates within three (3) working days for UNICEF review and approval. The Contractor must replace the unsatisfactory personnel within seven (7) working days of UNICEF's selection.

If one or more key personnel become unavailable, for any reason, for work under the contract, the Contractor shall (i) notify the project authority at least fourteen (14) days in advance, and (ii) obtain the project authority's approval prior to making any substitution of key personnel. Key personnel are designated as follows:

- (a) Personnel identified in the proposal as key individuals (as a minimum, partners, managers, senior auditors) to be assigned for participation in the performance of the contract.
- (b) Personnel whose resumes were submitted with the proposal; and
- (c) Individuals who are designated as key personnel by agreement of the Contractor and UNICEF during negotiations.

In notifying the project authority, the Contractor shall provide an explanation of circumstances necessitating the proposed replacement(s) and submit justification and qualification of replacement personnel in sufficient detail to permit evaluation of the impact on the engagement.

Acceptance of a replacement person by the project authority shall not relieve the Contractor from responsibility for failure to meet the requirements of the contract.
